WHO THREATENED TO "GET" VAN AKEN

Hints That the Mysterious Stranger May be Produced—Neighbors Give Testimony and Time Van Aken Was at His Barn Fixed by School Teacher.

The mysterious stranger who appeared at the Edwin Van Aken home in Port Ewen four days after Mrs. Van Aken had been murdered and who, according to the story told by Van Aken several hours after the visit, threatened to "get him yet," was brought into Van Aken's trial for murder this morning.

The stranger disappeared immediately after telling Van Aken, as the latter claims, that he would "get him yet," but an intimation that the mysterious stranger might be produced was conveyed by the question asked by District Attorney Cunningham of Civil Engineer P. Edwin Clark whether he would recognize the stranger if he should be produced in court.

Aside from that testimony, the most important development of the morning's testimony was that given by Miss Alice Niese, the Port Ewen school teacher, who saw Van Aken in his barn-door at 12:13 o'clock.

The cross-examination of The People's witnesses was conducted as on Wednesday, by Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier, of counsel for Van Aken, and for the first three-quarters of an hour after the opening of court there were many tilts between Mr. Brinnier, District Attorney Cunningham and Judge Jenkins as to remarks and comments that were not strictly necessary to the questions asked, the form of questions and repetition of questions in another form from that excluded by the judge as improper. These tilts were regarded by the spectators as technical necessities and not as indicative of anything more than a desire to keep interest from flagging during the uninteresting though important preliminary part of the case. City Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., appeared in the case as counsel with his father, and Judge Stephan for Van Aken.

Distance Over the Two Routes.

Civil Engineer P. Edwin Clark was recalled immediately after court opened for further cross-examination by Mr. Brinnier. Before coming to court he had gone to Port Ewen by automobile. He had not counted the houses between Van Aken's barn through Stout avenue and Green street and high to James Rodman's house and did not know there were 33 houses along the route. The purpose of the morning visit to Port Ewen was to measure the distance between the Van Aken house and Rodman barn over that route, which was 2,020 feet. From Rodman's barn through Hasbrouck street to Broadway is 436 feet. From Van Aken's barn through Stout avenue to Broadway is 1,916 feet. The difference between the Van Aken barn to the Rodman barn by way of Green street and from the Van Aken barn to the Rodman barn and back to Broadway is 104 feet. The chicken coop on the Van Aken property is 16 feet and 3 inches each way. Mr. Brinnier asked if a pile of lumber from 12 to 16 feet high was shown on the map. Mr. Clark said he did not recall the pile; he did not know there were 65 fruit trees on the Van Aken property, they were not indicated on the map; he was not requested not to show them.

Judge Jenkins suggested to Mr. Brinnier that in order to expedite the trial it was not necessary to go into detail as to what was shown on the map as the map spoke for itself. To this Mr. Brinnier excepted.

Port Ewen's 3,000 Tree Orchard.

Mr. Clark knew there was an orchard in the rear of the Van Aken property but did not know there were 3,000 trees there. He could not give their height.

Q—"Have you any idea of them?"

A—"I have not measured them."

Q—"You are a civil engineer and ought to know."

Mr. Brinnier was admonished not to make comments at this time, but took an exception to that remark of the court.

Mr. Clark was at the Van Aken house for three days and passed through the room several times. The ceilings upstairs were 7 feet 3 inches in height. He did not know the height of the downstairs ceilings. Judge Jenkins suggested that if the height was an important element it was not difficult to ascertain the exact height.

"I do not think I am called on to disclose our case even to the court," said Mr. Brinnier, "and we are not called on to show affirmatively that the trial is to be a trial."

Mr. Brinnier was admonished not to make comments at this time, but took an exception to that remark of the court.

Mr. Brinnier wanted the attention.

"Why aren't you looking at me?" interjected Mr. Brinnier at one point in his examination.

"That remark is entirely improper," said District Attorney Cunningham.

"I want you to look, and your honor to look, and the jury to look."

"I am looking at you," said Clark.

"I'm not looking at you," Cunningham.

"You seem to be whenever I look at you," said Mr. Brinnier.

The Mysterious Stranger Appears in the Case.

Q—"Do you remember the 26th of October when a stranger came to the Van Aken house while you were there?"

A—"I do."

Q—"What conversation did you hear between them?"

A—"I heard someone use the word 'get' and that was all I heard."

Q—"Who said that?"

A—"I don't know."

Q—"Didn't you hear the stranger say to Mr. Van Aken that he'd get him yet and didn't you tell that to Mr. Stephan and myself?"

A—"I don't remember that I did."

Q—"Will you deny it?"

A—"I won't say I did and I won't say I didn't."

Q—"And didn't you turn to Mr. Van Aken after the stranger left, and say to him: 'What do you think of that?'"

A—"I won't deny or affirm that."

Q—"Is there any reason why you should deny it? If there is, tell the court and the jury."

A—"There is no reason whatever."

Mr. Brinnier—"That's all, sir!"

Will the Mysterious Stranger Be Produced?

To Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Clark said he did talk to Van Aken but did not hear Van Aken say the stranger was Frank Neuman. He had seen the stranger's back and never had seen him since, to his knowledge.

Q—"If I should produce that stranger now, would you recognize him?"

A—"I don't think so."

Juror Rourke Wants to Know.

At the close of Mr. Clark's examination, Juror John Rourke of this city asked how long Clark had been an engineer whether he had not worked with him, whether Mr. Clark had not made maps before for the county and whether he had done the work in this case as testified to, to all of which questions Mr. Clark answered, "yes."

"Now," said Juror Rourke, "I'd like to know what the question of how much he is paid for this work has to do with the case? He's done the work and counsel for the defendant has had the benefit of it as well as the people of the county. Civil engineers, like lawyers, have different prices for their work."

"I'll pass on that question later," said Judge Jenkins.

Vanderveer Was in the Orchard.

William A. Vanderveer, who lives opposite the Van Aken home, was in his orchard when his telephone rang, and someone in the house answered it. Someone called to him and he went to the Van Aken house.

The telephone call came about two o'clock, within ten minutes one way or the other. He had been in the orchard superintending several men who had been at work there all day. The orchard is on Green street.

Arriving at the Van Aken house, he was met by Edwin Van Aken, who said, "Some one has robbed my house and killed my wife."

Mr. Vanderveer said he lifted the lid from the kitchen stove, but in the excitement did not remember whether or not there was any fire there. Mr. Vanderveer and Dr. Ross went upstairs. When they came down, Van Aken said he had gone to Rondout to do some general business, to pay some bills and to get some meat, and he and Mrs. Van Aken had intended to go to Rondout later.

What Van Aken Said About the Robbery.

Van Aken said he had discovered his desk open and $200 had been stolen, and that a watch kept in a bureau drawer had been taken. Mr. Vanderveer recalled having heard the statement that some jewelry in a bag in the bureau had been stolen, but did not recall whether Van Aken said so. George Van Aken and his wife arrived after the officers had arrived and were there during the rest of the day.

Vanderveer Counted Van Aken's Trees.

Cross-examined, Mr. Vanderveer said Van Aken had lived across the street about five years and with their wives had gone automobiling together. The last trip made together by the two families was in July, 1914, when they went to Asbury Park. The Van Aken's stayed there two weeks but the Vanderveers remained a month. The Vanderveer orchard had its trees about 20 feet apart and the trees were about 10 feet high.

Van Aken lot contained a cedar hedge and the Van Aken lot contained 65 fruit trees. Mr. Vanderveer having counted them.

Mr. Brinnier asked questions regarding Van Aken's reputation but answers were excluded on the ground that reputation cannot be proved until the defense is reached and is improper until the prosecution has finished its case.

Vanderveer's Farsight Led Him to Count Them.

To Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Vanderveer said he had counted the 65 Van Aken trees before coming to court this morning, not at anyone's request, but because he thought he would be asked that question.

Q—"Is any one of those trees big enough to conceal a man's body?"

A—"It would depend on the head of the tree, the foliage."

Q—"Are they in bearing yet?"

A—"Some of them are."

Q—"Was not the foliage gone from them on October 22 last?"

A—"From the peach trees, but not the apple trees. The foliage was gone from the shade trees. There were more peach trees than apple trees."

Vanderveer said he did not know the calibre of the trees on the Van Aken lot and did not know how many were over 2 1/2 inches in diameter; he thought there were two very large trees. Vanderveer's own orchard, adjoining the Ostrander property, contains 4,000 apple and pear trees, 4 years old, having an average diameter of 4 inches. Between the orchard and what would be the continuation of Green street there is an open garden spot.

Van Aken Was in His Barn at 12:13.

Miss Alice Niese, who resides at the corner of Broadway and Stout avenue, opposite the Van Aken house, was the next witness. Miss Niese teaches in the Port Ewen school, which is located on Broadway, between the Van Aken house and the Sleightsburgh ferry, and also between Hasbrouck avenue and the ferry. On October 22, judging from other days, she imagined school was dismissed at 12 o'clock. After dismissing school, she procured her wraps and went home where she arrived at 13 minutes past 12 o'clock. As she turned the corner of Broadway into Stout avenue she glanced over to the Van Aken barn and saw Van Aken come toward the front of the barn, then he turned and went back into the rear of the barn.

Cross-examined, she said one of the large barn doors was open and the other was partly open.

Mrs. Hutchings Fixed the Time.

Mrs. Melissa Hutchings, who lives on Broadway, adjoining the Niese property, testified she saw Miss Alice Niese when she passed the house on her way home. Mrs. Hutchings was in her own home and had glanced out of her window. It was then between 12:10 and 12:15 o'clock. Sometime during the day Mrs. Hutchings saw the Van Aken barn door open. She thought it was just before Miss Niese passed. She did not see Van Aken that day.

There was no cross-examination.

Mrs. Fronfield Was Sick.

Mrs. Linnie Fronfield, who was to have been the next witness, was stated by some of the Port Ewen residents to be sick. She was in attendance at court on Wednesday.

District Attorney Cunningham said Mrs. Fronfield was the next witness in the order of proof he had prepared and at 12:15 o'clock court adjourned until two o'clock to enable Mrs. Fronfield to appear.

More Trout Received.

This morning the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association received another shipment of 10,000 brook trout from the government hatcheries at Margaretville, which were distributed in the streams in the town of Wawarsing. The association has been extremely active this season in securing trout and stocking the streams in the county and the anglers of the county have a right to feel proud of the work done. Unfortunately all who are interested in the preservation of the fish and game of the county do not show their interest by becoming affiliated with the association, which should have a much larger membership. The membership fee is small and any desiring to become affiliated with the association can easily get in touch with Carl Preston, the secretary, at The Huntington.

A Criminal Idiot.

The board of education should immediately get busy and offer a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the half-baked imbecile who some time Wednesday night defaced the walls and doors of Kingston Academy by painting in huge yellow letters the scores of the two baseball games played between Kingston Academy and Ulster Academy, both of which were won by Ulster. Not only should the fool who used the paint be arrested but the board should take steps to make him pay for the damage done. It is fun but when it comes to the point of defacing public property an example should be made of the guilty party.

Columbia Crew Arrives.

The Columbia crew arrived at its training quarters at Highland on Wednesday afternoon in charge of Coach Rice. The squad numbers twenty-five members. The Cornell crew is expected to arrive the first of next week.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Van Leuven of Broadway are enjoying a week's outing in New York city and vicinity. Ira Jordan of Kingston is taking Mr. Van Leuven's place in his tennorial parlor.

Miss Minnie Houghtaling of Broadway is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. W. Taylor, in Albany for a few days.

Mrs. John Lampman and daughter, Rosamond, who have been the guests of Mrs. Lampman's sister, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, in Glens Falls, have returned to their home on Broadway.

Miss Flora Post and Miss Pearl Terpening of Salem street visited Miss Post's sister, Mrs. Henry Britt, at the Wauna Sanitarium on Wednesday.

The Dorcas Society will be entertained by Mrs. Augustus Walker tomorrow evening.

Twenty-three friends of Miss Cleola Freer gave her a complete surprise Wednesday evening by assembling at her home on Hamilton street to celebrate her birthday. The evening was spent pleasantly in playing games, singing, etc. Dainty refreshments were served and all wished Miss Cleola many like occasions.

AUSTRIANS HAVE TAKEN PRZEMYSL

By Telegram to The Free Press.

Vienna, June 3.—The Galician stronghold of Przemyśl, which was captured from the Austrians by a Russian army in March, has been recaptured by the Austro-German forces. It is officially announced.

This is the greatest victory won by the Austro-German forces since Gen. von Mackensen launched his mighty offensive movement against the Russians along the Dunajec river line in Northern Galicia six weeks ago.

The official announcement was brief. It said: "Przemyśl was retaken by us today."

Previously it had been officially announced that the Austro-German forces of Gen. von Mackensen had stormed four of the Russian forts north and northeast of the city.

It is acknowledged that the Austro-German loss of life was heavy, for whole regiments of infantry were hurled against the strong Russian defenses.

Both the city and the forts surrounding it had been battered by a long and tremendous bombardment from 12, 14 and 16 inch howitzers. The Russians fought bravely but lacked artillery ammunition.

Following the mighty night and day cannonade the Austrians and Germans swept forward in a great bayonet charge.

Many Russians are reported to have been captured as well as a vast quantity of supplies.

The remnants of the Russian army at Przemyśl is unofficially reported to be in retreat toward the east.

The Austro-German forces are now ready to launch a great drive for the recapture of Lemberg (Lvov), the only remaining city of importance held by the Russians in Galicia.

Military experts rank the Austro-German offensive in Northern Galicia which has been crowned by the magnificent victory at Przemyśl as one of the greatest exploits of the war in any theater of hostilities.

Przemyśl fell into the hands of the Russians on March 22, after a siege of about six months.

J. A. Macauley was arrested on Wednesday night on the charge of violating the automobile law by driving a car with a pasteboard license number. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5. He was escorted to the Rhinecliff ferry after paying the fine.

Skilful Tympani Player.

While Samuel Gardner did his very best as a tympani performer at the recent presentation of "The Creation," it should not be thought for one moment that any such impromptu performance could equal the very skilful playing of Mr. Britt, the regular tympani player of the Symphony Orchestra. The instrumental score of "The Creation," calls for an unusually large number of instruments and Mr. Gardner "lent a hand," under the kindly instruction of Mr. Britt.

LIEUT. KUEHN TO BE PROMOTED

Assistant Adjutant General Smithons of the national guard has notified Richard H. Kuehn that he has passed the examination for first lieutenant of Company M, to which he was recently elected by the members of the command in place of Lieutenant Robert E. Carpenter, reservist. Lieutenant Kuehn will be sworn in but will not receive his commission until Governor Whitman returns home from the Panama-Pacific international exposition. Lieutenant Kuehn has served over fifteen years in the guard, having enlisted as a private in Company M March 8, 1900, and warranted a corporal January 4, 1906; a sergeant, February 4, 1910; receiving his commission as second lieutenant, December 12, 1912. Lieutenant Kuehn is the well known hatter and gents' furnisher of lower Broadway, where he has been in business for a number of years. The lieutenant is popular with the members of Company M and will make an efficient first lieutenant, he having the spirit which will help make Company M the equal of any command in the national guard.

In the near future Captain Meagher will call for an election for second lieutenant, made vacant by the advance of Lieutenant Kuehn. As already stated, Sergeant Rudolph C. Dittus will in all probability be elected to this rank, being the man talked of for the commission among the members of Company M and its officers.

Towill Case Settled.

The Towill case has been settled and the complaint withdrawn it was announced when the case came up for trial before Judge McKenzie's bar of justice in Port Ewen on Tuesday. Douglass Towill of West Esopus was accused by Melvin Stewart of West Park of assaulting him. Towill was represented by City Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., and William H. Grogan represented Stewart.

Meeting of Officers.

Captain Meagher has called for a meeting of the officers and non-commissioned officers of Company M, to be held at the armory this evening, at 8 o'clock. He has also notified the members of his command to appear at the armory in field uniform, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, so as to be in readiness to take part in the military events in connection with the Gymkhana on the Athletic Field.

JUROR ROURKE
WANTS TO KNOWHis Examination of Engineer Clark
Brings Out Facts as to Distances
Van Aken Had to Travel.

Watching closely every move made in the game in which his life is the stake, Edwin Van Aken did not appear to take any greater interest in his trial on the charge of murdering his wife at their home in Port Ewen than other spectators present in the courtroom on Wednesday afternoon, and sat throughout the session with composed features and followed attentively the evidence given by the witnesses called by the district attorney. Probably the time that he showed the greatest interest was when his lawyer, ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier, who was cross examining Dr. George W. Ross of Port Ewen who had testified at the morning session and who was re-called at the opening of court that afternoon, suddenly pointed his finger at Dr. Ross and asked, "Have you any idea who killed Mrs. Van Aken?"

Before Dr. Ross could reply District Attorney Cunningham was on his feet objecting to the question, saying that any answer the doctor might give would be purely a speculative one.

"Do you know who killed Mrs. Van Aken? If you do I want you to tell this jury," Mr. Brinnier asked Dr. Ross.

"No, sir," replied the doctor. Mr. Brinnier then questioned Dr. Ross as to how long he had known Mr. Van Aken and asked what was the reputation of Van Aken in that community as being a peaceful and law abiding citizen.

The question was objected to by the district attorney on the grounds that it was not the proper time to introduce such proof and the objection was sustained by the court.

Going back to the first time Dr. Ross saw the body of the murdered woman lying in the bedroom of her home he was asked a number of questions by Mr. Brinnier as to the wounds he had described at the morning session and also as to his testimony given at the coroner's inquest held at Port Ewen, by Coroner E. A. Kelly, shortly after the murder. It was brought out that at the coroner's inquest he had testified that death had been caused by strangulation and that the autopsy disclosed that there was a slight fatty degeneration of the heart.

The physician also testified to seeing blood stains on the sink and pump handle in the Van Aken kitchen. Considerable time was also spent in having the witness describe the rooms in the house and explain the location of buildings shown on the photographs that had been placed in evidence.

Before Dr. Ross left the witness stand he was asked by the district attorney, "Did Van Aken tell you at what time he left the house to go to Rondout?" and replied "Some time before 12 o'clock."

Engineer Clark Called.

Civil Engineer P. Edwin Clark of Ellenville was the only other witness called at Wednesday afternoon's session and identified plans he had made of the house showing the ground floor and the second floor. A copy of the plan of the second floor and room in which the body was found was printed in Wednesday's Freeman. Mr. Clark said that the plans which were placed in evidence had been drawn by him from measurements made on the scene a few days after the murder. Considerable time was spent in having the witness explain the dimensions of the house and rooms and also of the houses in the near vicinity.

Juror Rourke Seeks Information.

Juror John Rourke of East Chester street, who was closely following the testimony given by Mr. Clark, suddenly asked the witness if he was able to give the distance in feet of the route through the back streets that Van Aken was said to have taken on his way to Rondout, and replied that he was. Mr. Clark said that from Van Aken's barn on Stout avenue through to Green street and the other back streets to a point in front of the post office on Broadway was 2,585 feet.

Mr. Rourke then wanted to know the distance from the Van Aken barn to the post office going by the more direct route of down Broadway, and Mr. Clark replied that the distance was 1,351 feet. He said that going by way of the back streets made the distance more than one-fifth of a mile.

"Which way would you take in going to the ferry?" queried Juror Rourke.

"I think I'd be inclined to take the shorter route," replied Mr. Clark. After some further questions by the district attorney the cross examination of Mr. Clark was taken up by Mr. Brinnier.

"How Much Do You Get?"

The first question asked the witness by Mr. Brinnier was how much he got for making the maps placed in evidence.

Mr. Clark replied that he could not remember as he did not have the figures with him.

He was asked as to the amount of money he got for testifying and replied that he did not know as he had not made out his bill as yet. Pressed to give the figure he replied that he usually got from $10 to $25 a day for his services.

Mr. Brinnier then wanted to know which was shorter route to get to the residence of Mr. Rodman, the liveryman in Port Ewen, by going the way Van Aken was said to have gone or down Broadway, but before Mr. Clark answered the question he was asked another by Mr. Brinnier and if he replied to the first question it was not heard at the reporter's table.

The map of the vicinity prepared by Mr. Clark did not show any houses located on Green street and when asked by Mr. Brinnier if there were any houses Mr. Clark replied that there probably were but he did not know how many as he did not count them.

A Tilt Between Counsel.

"You have a small map of the vicinity have you not?" asked Mr. Brinnier suddenly turning to the district attorney and he continued asking the district attorney to let him have it.

Mr. Cunningham replied that the small map he had was not in evidence but as Mr. Brinnier was insistent on having it the district attorney said "I will if you let me see your private papers."

Mr. Brinnier walked over to his end of the table and picking up a sheaf of papers he walked over and laid them down before the district attorney and picked up the small sketch he had asked for.

Mr. Clark said that he knew nothing of the small sketch as he had not drawn it.

Mr. Brinnier then called the district attorney as a witness in an effort to find out who had drawn the sketch and learned that Leroy Lounsbury of the district attorney's office had prepared it.

"Well, I will call Mr. Lounsbury," replied Mr. Brinnier and when Mr. Lounsbury had taken the stand it was learned that the sketch had been prepared by him from information given him by Andrew Taylor of Port Ewen.

Mr. Brinnier then asked Mr. Clark to again take the stand and asked him if he was willing to go over to the ground so that at the morning session he would be able to locate the houses on Green street on the map he had prepared.

The district attorney objected to Mr. Brinnier trying to arrange with Mr. Clark to go to Port Ewen while he was on the witness stand and said that was not the proper cross examination and if Mr. Brinnier wanted to arrange with Clark he should do so after the witness had left the witness stand. As far as he was concerned the district attorney said he had no objection to Clark going over to Port Ewen for Mr. Brinnier but he must insist that it was not the subject of a cross examination. The court upheld the contention of the district attorney.

At this juncture a recess was taken until this morning at 10 o'clock.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HARRISON.

Last Tribute Paid to a Noble Christian Woman.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. William R. Harrison were held from the Harrison home, corner of Pearl and Green streets, on Wednesday afternoon at half after two o'clock, and were very largely attended, the spacious rooms being crowded with the many, many friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Harrison. The casket was completely covered with exquisite roses, lilies and other lovely flowers, while masses of beautiful flowers filled the room and a couch of roses stood nearby the casket. These were the loving and loyal tributes of friends and of the many organizations of which Mrs. Harrison was always an active and inspiring member. Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., of which Mrs. Harrison was regent at the time of her death, attended the funeral services in a body, as did Mr. Harrison's large Bible class of the St. James M. E. Church; the Lowell Club, of which Mrs. Harrison was president; the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Societies of the St. James M. E. Church, Mrs. Harrison's own Sunday school class of young girls, and members of the Sunshine Society and the Federation of Women's Clubs. During the services, Mr. Vogt, tenor soloist at the St. James Church, accompanied by Miss Burghans, organist, sang "Perfect Day" and "Abide With Me." Dr. T. H. Baragwanath, the pastor of the church of which Mrs. Harrison had been a member during her residence in Kingston, paid the highest possible tribute to Mrs. Harrison, saying he was speaking as a friend as well as a pastor. It had been his rare privilege to know Mrs. Harrison for many years, and he realized that no eulogy on his part could add to the impress which such a life made up on all who were so fortunate as to come into touch with it. All present knew Mrs. Harrison and her sterling worth. Yet it must prove not only pleasant and comforting but inspiring to mention the outstanding qualities of her noble character. She was a thoughtful woman, looking through things to their very core. She recognized merit, whether in literature, art or human character. She was a woman of conviction, reaching conclusions after such careful consideration that she was enabled to defend her opinions.

Mrs. Harrison had a positive genius for friendship, and was blessed with a great host of loyal friends. She was gentle, and that subtle something which we call "womanliness" was in high degree developed in her constituting much of her charm. She was natural. What she was, she said and what she said, she was. Above all she was devout. From early girlhood she was deeply religious, as was shown in her loyalty to the church and in the doing of multitudinous deeds of kindness. A close following of her Heavenly Master was the secret of her beautiful life and the mainspring of all her activities. Dr. Baragwanath closed by saying that character and love are immortal, no more to be destroyed by death, than is the sun destroyed by the eclipse which for the time being hides its refulgent glory from our eyes.

The honorary bearers were Philip Elting, S. D. Gibson, J. T. Johnson, William Shafer, E. L. Angle and C. R. Styles. The funeral services and interment which was in Newburgh, were in charge of Ernest A. Kelly.

Rise and Fall of a Mining Town.

A curious instance of the latter day rise and fall of a mining town developed at Hosmer, in the Crow's Nest district, Canada. Coal was found and a mine opened without regard to expenditure. In all over $1,000,000 was put into the operations. Many promising seams were cut, and so sure were the engineers of the quality and quantity of coal to be reached that a double tunnel, with a side air passage, was driven the whole length. Expensive tipples, tramways and a battery of 240 coke ovens built to take care of the washed slack coal product from the mine. However, the coal seams proved to be so broken and irregular that operations were entirely too expensive and were abandoned. As a consequence the town of Hosmer, which had a population of about 1,000, is now a deserted village.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 3, 1915.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, seems to be the only high official in his nation who sees clearly the real issue between his country and ours. He deserves great credit for risking his official life by trying to induce the fire-eaters in Berlin to meet our just demands and thus avert a war which no sensible person desires. If he succeeds, he will be the big man of the day. If he fails, it will only delay his reward. The masses of German people, although somewhat excited and unreasonable for the moment, are characterized by strong common sense and they will not fail to understand at last whether the war lord or the peace-maker is the more worthy of their approbation. Stranger things have happened than that the Count should one day become President of the Republic of Germany.

It is evident to us that the members of the Federal Reserve Board ought to be "hung as high as Haman." Without regard to the fact that the President has repeatedly declared that the alleged business depression is "purely psychological," these gentlemen have issued a bulletin containing the following statements: "Factories producing goods for domestic use are not busy and new orders come in slowly." Figures of new incorporations compared with recent years show a considerable falling off. Failures since the first of the year compared with the same period last year have increased 50 per cent in number and 66 per cent in amount. There is plenty more like this in the bulletin, and it is shown that but for the enormous orders for war supplies our industries would be in a bad way. Our business would seem to be wonderfully susceptible to psychological influences.

The recent prominence given to asphyxiating gas will doubtless be an inspiration to the criminal classes. Already we hear of a thief in Paterson, N. J., trying to use it upon a woman who was alone in charge of a grocery store. The plan failed for some reason or other, but more clever scoundrels are likely to meet with success. The great advantage of a weapon of this sort is that it can be carried about without fear of statutes like the Sullivan law, at least until the legislatures have time to meet the new situation. Ordinarily, criminals are not so quick to utilize a new idea. The automobile had been in existence a long time before anybody thought of using it for purposes of robbery and murder. Although aeroplanes are now quite cheap, they are all in the hands of law-abiding people, although there are many evil uses to which they might be put. It will probably be a long time before submarines get into the hands of private individuals with wicked intentions.

It is understood in Washington that the "very short time" which President Wilson allows the Mexican chiefs for the purpose of getting together means about two weeks. This does not afford much opportunity for negotiation, but the President is doubtless aware that if he made the time two years the result—or rather lack of result—would be the same. There is absolutely no possibility of the Mexicans ever governing themselves in a manner satisfactory to the civilized world. That great authority, Dr. Woodruff, in his recent work entitled "Medical Ethnology," says: "Of the present 20,000,000 Mexicans, 49 per cent are said to be pure-blood native Indians, speaking the languages they used when Cortez arrived. Fifty per cent of the population have some mixture of other blood. Customs have also changed but little and, in spite of Christian teachings, they have merely transferred religious ideas to Christian idols, though some of the old religions have survived in purity. The half-breeds and the quarter-breeds are the leaders just as in Luzon, and the full-blood Spaniard goes home or dies out in a few generations." This is corroborated by Matias Romero, who says in "Modern Mexico" that "the children of the Spanish residents are less energetic than the parents, and the third generation are altogether Creoles." This is the fault of the climate, which cannot be changed. Where swarthy Spaniards cannot thrive it is, of course, impossible for the fairer-skinned people of the United States to settle. Consequently, Mexico must always be ruled by men who, while nominally Christians, are really disciples of bloody pagan religions. They cannot possess the high ideals essential to civilized institutions. The only hope of peace in such a country lies in its being governed as the British govern India, for example. This does not go well with our national maxim that all men are created equal, but facts are facts.

THE CHEERY KITCHEN.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Those who prepare our facts and figures tell us that over 80 per cent of America's housewives reign over their own kitchens; and sometimes one feels bound to ask, "And, for goodness sake, who plans and locates the windows?"

Generally the kitchen is in close touch with the dining-room, and the latter ordinarily is planned with intimate care for the well-being of the household, to minister to the comfort of its members. If it is a maid who is in charge of the kitchen, practically all her time is spent there; and to pass from the dining-room with its big, cheery windows overlooking a pleasing prospect—or at least overlooking something—into the domain where culinary pursuits are supreme, and find it dull, commonplace and well-nigh windowless, is nothing if not discouraging.

There are specialists of all sorts in the world—why not a kitchen-specialist, an architect whose supreme duty and pleasure it would be to design and equip kitchens that would be a dream of light, comfort and convenience?

The prospective builder will agonize over the last detail of the reception hall, the living-room, guest-chamber and the rest, and work out every nook and corner to a nicety, until the kitchen is reached. And that room too often is a "chamber of horrors," with a tiny little window stuck so far up toward the ceiling that there is no real chance for light and an opportunity to see something to take the worker's mind away from tasks and the four practical walls. Once in a while one is inclined to think that those wee windows away at the top are placed there that work may go on more briskly, without any lure from the outside world.

The modern architect, when given full leeway to carry out his well-perfected ideas of sanitation and ventilation, does make a mighty attractive room, with its shining tiled surfaces and really beautiful appointments; but sometimes he stops short at the windows.

A kitchen recently inspected, all in white tile, was too perfect to criticize, except for its windows. One side was given over to a cabinet, through whose glass doors an abundance of blue and white enameled ware was in evidence. On opposite sides of the room were white enameled sinks, and over one were two windows which gave an abundance of light, but not a particle of inspiration, nor a show of the outside world.

Every convenience was at hand and every regard was paid to ventilation, sanitation and light, but the spirits of the worker apparently were forgotten.

Is there any reason why the architect might not have planned that kitchen with an idea of giving the worker something more than the practical?

A low window, big enough to let in the sun and light, a rocking chair and something to look at and think about are just as important as many of the details upon which our wizards of inventive genius are spending their energy. Whether the effort to furnish something inspiring is in behalf of wife, mother, sister or maid, the attractiveness of a kitchen is not a matter of minor importance, and the sight of a widow calling for a step ladder if one would look out sets in motion a strong spirit of protest.

A kitchen should be an appealing, livable room, with soft, restful color combinations, but often it is quite the reverse; and it is not strange that women grow weary, dull and old in some of the kitchens where they spend more than half their time.

A picture of a big, old fashioned kitchen persistently comes to mind. Tile and modern plumbing were unknown, but it was the most inviting room of its kind one need want to think upon. It is idle to describe it, for it was dependent for its charm only upon cheery, sunny windows and brightness everywhere. The labels on glass cans were red, red geraniums blossomed and smiled in an outside window box; and wherever it was possible to introduce a bit of the rich coloring, it was there. And a big, hospitable arm chair in one window, a comfortable rocker in another, simply invited one to rest tired nerves and weary feet.

A kitchen is not designed for a living room, but if there is no temptation to sit in a room where a goodly portion of one's life must be passed, one must pity the worker's nerves and spirits.

"Mrs. Smith, your husband was seen in a bucket shop this morning." "Well, I don't think John would remember. I told him when he went off we needed some new ones in the kitchen."
—Baltimore American.

Office Boy (on afternoon of game): "If you pup-pup-pup-pup, sir." "Busy Boss—"Oh, out with it! Don't take half a day." Office Boy—"But that's just what I was going to ask you if I could take, sir."
—Boston Transcript.

"I suppose you are what they call a political boss." "I suppose so," replied Senator Sorghum, wearily. "As I understand the term, a political boss is a man who has to do the hard work, the hard thinking, and take all the blame for anything that goes wrong."
—Washington Star.

TICKETS.

John J. Finley, New York's commissioner of education, said in Albany, apropos of an argument on Bible reading in the schools:

"This argument is straightforward. It does not shift and jump and beat about the bush. It isn't like the trick schoolboy."

"Which would you choose," his teacher asked this schoolboy, "the tenth or the 20th part of an apple?" "The boy answered that he would choose the 20th part and that he was not with his shifty eyes. His teacher's frown, he added hastily, "I don't like apples, you know."
—New York World.

CHIN MUSIC.

The story is told of a veteran of the civil war who returned to the home of his boyhood to attend a banquet given by the old boys. The veterans were all men he had known as youngsters. He expected them to talk over old times. Instead, one talked incessantly about his bad liver, another discoursed on his weak heart; a third had a lot to say about kidney trouble, and so it went on. When the veteran returned to his home he was asked how he enjoyed the banquet.

"Banquet!" he replied, showing vexation. "It wasn't a banquet. It was an organ recital."
—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MODEST JOSEPH.

Joseph Coyne, an American comedian, who is a greater favorite in London than in his native land, has turned to comedy pure and simple, and at a supper party he said of this change:

"It's a change for the better. Despite my success in 'The Merry Widow,' I've got no voice, and I know it. I was motoring last summer in Devon, at the old-fashioned inn at Combe Martin, where I was a visitor's book. I stopped at Combe Martin just after Paviola had been there, and I saw that she had written in the visitors' book:

"I dance because I must."
"Well, I wrote underneath that: 'I sing because I can't.'"
—Joe Coyne."
—New York Telegraph.

MISPLACED PITY.

Miss Anna Steinauer, Boston's policewoman, said the other day: "My duties afford me shocking revelations. I am astonished at the number of Boston women who smoke. And for the men of Boston—well!"

The fair policewoman smiled grimly and added: "How many, many a Boston wife brushes in the morning the billiard chalk from her husband's coat sleeves and thinks, with tears in his eyes, of the overtime the poor boy dreads in nearly every evening at his dreary desk by the whitewashed wall!"
—Boston Post.

JOHN WAS JEALOUS.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 3.—Memorial Day was observed here, with more interest than ever before. There was a very large parade, all organizations turned out well, the band played very nicely and there were some pretty floats. O. E. S. in their five colors, the U. D. in purple, suffrage in yellow, Queen Esther Circle had an automobile, decorated nicely and your reporter noticed among the throng one very patriotic one. The Daughters of America, which was a very large float, and composed of flag bunting and the American flag floating from every space available. It was a very appropriate affair for Memorial Day, and a grand tribute was paid to the organization for they had represented on their immense float, the Goddess of Liberty, Uncle Sam and George Washington. With their degree team in red, white and blue and the captain holding the shield, with the letters D. of A. the emblem and also the Liberty Bell. Memorial Day will gather around it not only the love and tears and pride of generations of people, but more and more in the inner circle of tenderness, the linking memories of every comrade so long as one survives. The addresses by Rev. J. C. Coddington and Rev. G. H. Schofield, were grand and impressive and these things in memory of the dead, in honor of the living for inspiration to the children, all gathered to decorate the graves of the patriots with flowers to pledge commonwealth, town and citizen to fresh recognition of the surviving soldiers and to picture again the reality, glory and sacrifice of their service. We often see men who in the left lapel of their coat wear a plain, modest, unassuming bronze button, sometimes the coat is old and rusted, the face above it seamed and furrowed by toil and suffering of adverse years and often we see an empty sleeve and below it stumps of a wooden peg. Let us when we meet such, take off our hat, for we know that in the dark hour of the nation's peril, he bared his breast to the fire of battle to keep the flag of our country in the union sky.

The object of the trip is to see which ship will reach Palestine first, the distance is 5,300 miles. We sailed from New York on the afternoon of May 16. The presence of every enrolled scholar counts 5 miles. Every visitor for either ship 15 miles. A new scholar 50 miles, and the side having the largest collection 50 miles. The boats at present are sailing out in the Atlantic Ocean very close together. The Lusitania is 500 miles out from New York, while the Mauretania is 10 miles in the rear. There is an attendance of about 70 and the offering $2.50. Sunday. Come and inspect these great ocean liners. No doubt you will receive an invitation from the captains or sailors. The tickets are all free and we promise you a pleasant voyage. The losing ship has to give the school a supper, while the winner provides an entertainment. Our pastor, Rev. G. E. Robinson is aboard the Lusitania while the superintendent is on the Mauretania. We welcome strangers. All scholars and visitors in order to count on the mileage must be aboard the ship at roll call which is 15 minutes before two.

Luxurious Shoes

"LUXURIOUS SHOES" was the SOROSIS slogan when severity and solidity were preferred to daintiness and beauty.

We did not have to get ready for Fashion's swing toward dainty Shoes.

In fact, we are largely responsible for the swing that Fashion made in that direction.

SOROSIS individual constructive art—developed Shoe beauty long before popular taste was prepared for it.

The present rage for Luxurious Shoes justifies our early tendency.

Many styles of SOROSIS Luxurious Shoes from $3.50, $4, $4.50 and $5 are awaiting your approval.

BAGGAGE LAW BOOSTS EXPRESS COMPANIES

Must Declare Value of Baggage When Checking it for Interstate Shipment--Little Delay Thus Far at Kingston Station.

The new United States baggage law went into effect in Kingston on Wednesday and at the railroad stations passengers checking baggage were obliged to sign a declaration of the value of their luggage on white slips provided for the purpose by the railroad companies, and as far as could be learned the new law worked well and there was no appreciable delay, although some of the passengers refused at first to sign the slips until they were informed by the baggage master that unless they did so their baggage would not be accepted.

Under the new law all baggage must be accurately valued by the owner and the statute makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both, to state falsely the value of baggage. On Wednesday the values as given by the owners ranged anywhere from $5 to $100. All baggage up to a value of $100 is carried free, but any amount over that the railroads collect a fee of ten cents. For instance if an owner placed a value of $105 on his luggage he was forced to pay the ten cents, but if he placed the value at $100 or less no charge was made by the railroad.

At one of the railroad stations a man came to the baggage window and wanted to check his trunk and one of the white slips was passed out to him with the request that he sign his name and mark the value of the contents of the trunk on the slip. He raved a little and refused to do so until informed that the railroad would not accept the trunk unless he signed, when he cooled off and meekly signed the slip, giving the value.

Under the new law a person desiring to check his dog must also sign one of the white slips and if he values the dog at over $25 the railroad company will refuse to accept it and the dog must be shipped by express.

While there was no great delay on Wednesday it is likely that when the summer traffic starts in for the season that there may be some delay caused by the baggage master being forced to stand and explain the law to passengers. When passengers have become accustomed, however, to the provisions of the law there will probably be no more delay than there has been in the past in checking baggage at the stations.

There was no valuation over $100 given at the baggage room at the West Shore on Wednesday although some delay was caused by the signing of the slips handed out by the baggage master. In the case of traveling men handling several pieces of baggage which have a large value it is likely that this business will be diverted to the express companies. This is especially true of salesmen for jewelry houses who with a large value are compelled to accompany the trunks or pieces of baggage to the destination. Another result is likely to be that not so many suit cases containing valuables will be checked but will be carried into the coaches. It is likely that there may be some complications arising over the fact that people wishing to go to New York from this city can demand a receipt or bill of lading from the baggage master as the West Shore runs through New Jersey to Weehawken before passengers cross the river to New York. The law states that any railroad company receiving property to be carried from one state to another "shall issue a receipt or bill of lading therefor, and shall be liable to the lawful holder thereof for any loss, damage or injury to such property caused by it or by common carrier." No receipts were given at the local station except the usual brass check.

The Best Bread for Any and All Occasions!

If sandwiches are made from our Steamed Bread, the contents of the lunch basket will taste all the more appetizing. Steamed Bread imparts its own toothsome-ness to everything with which it comes in contact.

Steamed Bread is the perfect and logical picnic bread, home bread, evening luncheon bread, outing bread, children's piecemeal bread or the "staff of life" for Dad's dinner pail.

The purposes for which Steamed Bread fits in just right may be summed up in a nutshell—it's the bread for all occasions just because it is a perfect, well-baked, moist, light, flaky bread.

Father of Medicine.
Aesculapius was styled the father of medicine and the god of medicine with equal propriety, as it is not certain whether he was half god or mere man. His pedigree is involved in the mazes of mythology. He is represented as having practiced medicine so successfully as not only to have prevented the death of the living, but to have recalled the dead to life. Tradition says that Jupiter, for some offense, slew him with a thunderbolt, and after his death he received divine honors. One of his whips was to invest the serpent with a sort of sacred character as the symbol of veneration and also because of its supposed power of discovering healing herbs. A heroic sized statue of him in Berlin represents him as kneeling on a staff around which is coiled a huge snake that rests its head in friendly fashion on his arm. Aesculapius had two daughters, whose names are preserved in modern English—Hygieia and Panacea.—Philadelphia Press.

When Connecticut Owned Chicago, Connecticut once claimed the territory Chicago now occupies. This was at the close of the Revolutionary war, when what is now Chicago was only a ruined fort, built long before, and called Che-ca-wagon. In 1783 Massachusetts, Connecticut, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia claimed to own the territory west of them as far as the Mississippi river, although the territories of Massachusetts and Connecticut were interrupted by parts of New York and Pennsylvania. The line between Massachusetts and Connecticut came a little north of what is now Chicago. It was Maryland that reduced these huge domains. Having no western territory herself, she refused to accept the articles of confederation unless the other states would agree to cede the western territories to the confederation itself, to be made in course of time, into new states.

Unusual.

Speaking of long memories, a writer in the Boston Globe says: "I can remember my grandmother when nineteen months of age."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GYMKHANA ENTRIES VERY ATTRACTIVE

Final Arrangements for Big Outdoor Event on Saturday Have Been Made and Entry List is Given in Full.

The final arrangements for the Gymkhana on Saturday were completed last night at a meeting of the executive committee held at Major Chandler's residence. It must be understood by the public that the proceeds of this novel field day and military spectacle are to be divided equally among three of our local charities, the Tuberculosis Hospital, the Sunshine Society and the county work. Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Francis J. Higginson are the general managers of the Gymkhana.

Major Chandler will act as field director. Assisting him will be Captain Meagher, in command of Company M, Charles Tappen and Grove Webster, 3d, at the gate. Kenneth Archer in charge of the horses and Carl Preston, manager of the athletic events. Senator Charles W. Walton will be the announcer.

The military maneuvers executed by Company M as a finish to the program are the same sort of combat exercise as was shown at Van Cortlandt Park, New York city, on Memorial Day, when 5,000 people saw Company F, the crack detachment of the famous 71st Regiment, capture the division house where the enemy was supposed to be encamped.

Company M at the Gymkhana will approach the grand stand where the enemy has built entrenchments, and according to methods used in modern warfare will steal upon them and drive them from their position. This part of the program will alone be worth the price of admission.

The entries for the athletic events are not quite completed but following is the complete list of entries and prizes in the horse show:

Suppose We Pared These Tires

Suppose this All-Weather tread—now double-thick—was pared to the thinness of the usual anti-skid. Would it endure like this one? Or so resist puncture?

Suppose we used—as some do—one less fabric ply. Or made the whole tire lighter. Suppose we omitted our exclusive features:

Our No-Rim-Cut feature—
Our "On-Air" cure—
Our rubber rivets—
Our 126-piano-wire base.

All rivals do omit them. All of them are costly. Our "On-Air" cure alone costs us $480,000 yearly to save needless blowouts. But could Goodyear Fortified Tires retain top place if we did not give those extras?

Cost Added

Prices Lowered

Instead of that, we all the time add costly betterments. We spend on experts $100,000 yearly to seek out new improvements.

Our All-Weather tread—always double-thick—is made still thicker in some sizes.

Our Inner Tubes have been thickened 14 per cent on the average.

Our fabric has been strengthened.

Yet on February 1st we made our third big price reduction in two years, bringing the total to 45 per cent. Now you are getting in Goodyear Fortified Tires the best value ever known in tire making.

It is due to yourself that you this year join this army of contented tire users. It is by far the largest army in Tiredom. Any dealer will supply you. (233)

Lay-to for a spell and swing on this:

You'll start an old-pal-party via a pipe or a makin's cigarette quick as a flash, as soon as you realize it's a live bet to let your good money rub up against some Prince Albert tobacco. Why, it's like beating back to the bushes for old-home week, P. A.'s so friendly, so chummy-like.

You see, Prince Albert can't bite your tongue, or any other man's; nor parch throats. Because it's made by a patented process that cuts out the bite and parch and lets you hear the song of the joy's jimmy pipe and the makin's cigarette all the day long!

PRINCE ALBERT

just hands you home-made questions like these:

Were you ever pipe-happy? Did you ever hit a brand that just pushed pleasure against your palate? The kind that sort of teased your smokeappetite for some more fire-up, then another—and so on, right to the pillow-period!

Well, that's P. A., no matter how you hook it up—pipe or cigarette. It just jams-joy into your system! You nail that fact hot off the bat, because it's case-cards information! And handed out to you for personal and immediate attention as being about as real and true as you've heard since Hector was a pup!

P. A. is sold in the toppy red bag for the price of a jitney ride, 5c; tidy red tin, 10c; pound and half-pound tin humidors—and the classy pound crystal-glass humidors with the sponge-moistener top that's not only a joy's thing to have at home and at the office, but it keeps P. A. in the highest state of perfection.

INVESTMENT DAYS

June is the time when property owners are looking about to sell, rent or exchange their realty holdings, and seekers after homes are also looking this month to buy or rent places in the suburbs, country, mountains or at the seashore, where the wife and kiddies can spend the hot months in comfort.

Whichever side of this realty fence you are on, keep in constant touch with the ads in the Freeman Want Columns and your desires in this line will be quickly gratified.

Paint or Not

Is a horse worth more or less after feed?

Hay and oats are high today; shall I wait today and feed him tomorrow?

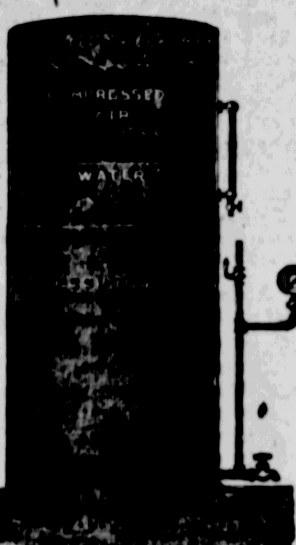

That's how men do about painting their houses and barns and fences. Paint has been high for several years; and so they have waited.

Some are still waiting.

Their property drops a trifle a year and the next job of paint creeps-up creeps-up; it'll take more paint by a gallon a year; they don't save a cent, and the property goes on suffering.

Also Prettiest Baby is to Receive a Prize in Connection with the Firemen's Carnival and Jubilee.

Who shall be the queen?

Who shall be the prettiest baby?

In connection with the big firemen's carnival and jubilee the committee has decided to hold two voting contests. One is for the most popular young lady, the other for the most pretty baby. The winner in the queen contest will receive a beautiful diamond ring as first prize; second prize, lady's gold watch; third prize, silver vanity case.

In the baby contest the first prize will be a baby diamond ring; second prize, a silver cup.

The rules of the contest are as follows:

Any young lady or baby can enter this contest by merely being voted in this contest by one of her friends. The votes are one cent each and everybody can vote as often and as many times as they wish, each penny indicating one vote. For instance, five cents, five votes; twenty-five cents, twenty-five votes.

As a starter the committee will enter each candidate with 100 votes free. Voting boxes are in all popular drug and confectionery stores, where envelopes can be obtained for the contests.

All prizes are now on exhibition at Oppenheimer Brothers' jewelry store window and are worth while to go after. Contestants are urged to enter their name today and help the good cause along as the profits are for the benefit of the Central Hook and Ladder Company.

The contest will start Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and close Saturday, June 19, at 9:30 p. m., sharp, at the carnival grounds and, the winner in the queen contest will be crowned queen of the jubilee.

Votes will be taken up every day at 10 a. m. and the daily papers will publish the correct standing of all candidates every day.

For further information contestants may call up Irving Nestell, the chairman of the carnival committee, or Scott D. Hornbeck, under sheriff. Contestants also will find in this edition an entire coupon entitling them to one hundred votes as a starter. Contestants should cut this out, either drop in box or mail to chairman of committee. The names of all voting booth places will be published in tomorrow's paper.

MRS. JOHNS, WHO SUEB HOE HEIRS, SEEKS DIVORCE.

New York, June 3.—Mrs. Margaret Brown Johns, who received a considerable sum of money from the estate of the late Robert Hoe, multi-millionaire printing press manufacturer, in settlement of a suit for $230,000 she had brought against the heirs in 1910, has started suit in the supreme court for absolute divorce from her second husband, Arthur Johns, the lawyer she married after he had handled her action, in which she alleged that she as a ward of Mr. Hoe, had turned over for his management securities of great value.

Largest Animal Kingdom.

In the course of an interesting nature sermon in the Woman's Home Companion Charles Edward Jefferson, pastor of Broadway Tabernacle in New York city, said: "There are more kinds of birds than there are kinds of fishes and serpents and animals combined. The largest of all the kingdoms of sentient life is the kingdom of the birds."

Milady's Mirror

Short Skirt With Us.

The return of the short skirt and the popularity of the modern dances have called the feet into prominence again. This means that the woman who cultivates beauty must pay particular attention to her feet. If the ankle is not slender it must be made so, and if the feet are not of a patrician mold they must be corrected as much as possible.

Exercise and massage will do much for unsightly ankles if the bones are not misshapen. Remove shoes and stockings and sit with one knee crossed over the other. Move the foot about in a circle, using the ankle joint only. When you become tired move the foot up and down until fatigued and then change to the other foot. Another effective exercise is to stand on both feet and turn the feet from side to side at the ankle.

After exercising fill a foot bath with hot water, as hot as you can stand it with comfort, and plunge the feet in this bath. The ankles should be covered, and if a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda is added to the water it assists in the flesh melting process. Allow the ankles to remain in this bath fifteen or twenty minutes; then rub them dry and apply a strong solution of alum or camphorated oil. Use firm, vigorous strokes to rub the oil well into the flesh and as a final end of the treatment bind the ankles with strips of linen saturated with the oil. Do not draw these tight enough to hinder the circulation.

To improve the contour of the foot it is necessary to pay attention to the corns, callouses and enlarged joints. Be quite sure that you wear well fitted shoes, for there must be no pressure against any one part of the foot.

Do Not Use Grease on Hair.

Never use grease on the hair. After the shampoo use camomile lotion, rubbing it in carefully with the points of the fingers, and on no account permit it to touch the face, because it will make the face yellow.

This camomile lotion, which cleanses the hair and tones the scalp, promoting circulation, is made thus:

Two large handfuls of camomile, two quarts of water. Boil for fifteen minutes, or until it is as dark as black coffee, then shake and add two quarts of cold water. Put in a stone jar and keep in a cold place. Shake well before using.

Hair to be really beautiful should not lie in heavy, sticky bands, but should stand out hair by hair, as separate as the down of a little chicken. To acquire this use ten drops of ammonia sprinkled in the camomile. It must be added after the mixture has boiled and cooled, otherwise the ammonia will evaporate.

The Use of Soap.

Use soap, but let it be pure soap. There are soaps made from spermaceti, which is the oil taken from the head of the whale. It is very expensive, but one may not economize as to the complexion. This is a recipe for the care of the complexion every day.

On rising massage the face eight or ten minutes. Massage it with the two middle fingers—that is, the second and third—with a round, not lengthwise, motion. The round motion removes lines. The lengthwise motion makes them. Remove what is left of the cold cream with a linen towel or an old handkerchief, then apply a little more cold cream, then powder.

In the evening take ten to twenty minutes for cleansing your face. First wash it in tepid water—never cold water, except in emergencies of great fatigue—then massage for eight or ten minutes. Remove the cream, then apply more cream, very little more, and so to sleep.

About Nervousness.

No woman can help feeling nervous at times in this age of rush and racket, but it is quite possible to put on the brakes, as it were, and not let the nerves run away with us and spoil our beauty. Here are a few hints on the subject:

If people fret you it is not necessary to be rude to them. Try instead to avoid them. Don't read books that irritate you. Books are plentiful; therefore put away the offending volume and choose another. If noise at night worries you don't let it continue to do so. Get up and see to the matter and put it right.

Don't let yourself get into the habit of being bored. It is not worth while. When you feel it coming on plunge at once into some task that will take all your time and energy.

Fine Skin Tonic.

There is an excellent old skin tonic used for generations, which will probably be of interest to the women readers of this page. It may be prepared at home and contains nothing that is in the least bit harmful to the face which is more than can be said of so many of the so-called skin tonics on the market. Make a bag of cheese cloth, double thickness, and fill it with bran, a teaspoonful of orris root and a half cake of castile soap chopped up fine. This bag may be used in the bath and on the face and makes the skin smooth, white and firm.

Pretty Deep.

"Doctor, do you think eyeglasses will alter my appearance?" inquired Mrs. Gunson anxiously.

"I shall at least expect them to improve your looks," replied the physician.—Lippincott's.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 3.—Rev. Frank Beale, of Wellsfleet, Mass., former pastor of the Ellenville M. E. Church, on his return from Ogdensburg, N. Y., where he delivered a Memorial Day address, arrived in town Tuesday to spend a few days with his many friends who are more than delighted to see him. About a year ago Rev. Beale was seriously injured in an automobile accident while returning to his home at Canton, N. Y., from a funeral. This spring he was appointed as pastor of the M. E. Church at Wellsfleet.

Stanley Booth, who has been spending several months at Palm Beach, Florida, has arrived at his home in Ellenville for a visit.

John Low Porter of Liberty spent Memorial Day with his cousins, the Misses Mary and Cora Low.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ryan are spending the week in Middletown and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers of Albany spent Memorial Day with Peter Taylor and family on West Center street.

Mrs. Walter Ogden of Hickory street spent Memorial Day with her niece, Mrs. John Mayo, at Campbell Hall.

B. S. Trainor of Poughkeepsie has been spending several days in Ellenville.

Miss Ella Sheridan of Center street has gone to spend some weeks with friends in Connecticut.

Miss Eck, daughter of Ferdinand Eck, of Ellenville, was operated upon successfully at the Benedictine Sanitarium, Kingston, on Tuesday. Dr. George F. Wilklow was her attending physician.

Children Day Services.

Sunday, June 6, will be observed as Children's Day at Trinity M. E. Church. At the morning service there will be baptism of infants, special music and short sermon by the pastor, Rev. George E. Barber. The Sunday school will attend church service in the morning. In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the Children Day program will take up the entire service with songs and recitations appropriate for the occasion by members of the church choir and Sunday school. All members and friends of the congregation will be cordially welcome.

Taxation Lecture to Grange.

Lake Katrine Grange will hold an open meeting Monday June 7 for the purpose of hearing an address on "Taxation and the Farmer," by James R. Brown of New York, who has spoken before audiences in every state and as far north as Hudson Bay. Mr. Brown has a message that should be of special value at the present juncture when this question is receiving so much attention. The Grange extend a cordial invitation to all and request especially that each come with prepared questions. Lecture at 8 p. m.

The New City Walk.

Street Superintendent Van Keuren has about completed the laying of the new concrete sidewalk in front of the municipal building on O'Reilly street. The contract of Homer Burger in front of the central fire station is practically completed. Within a few days the entire walk will be open from Jansen avenue to Hasbrouck avenue and will be a big improvement to the city's properties there.

Held on Peace Warrant.

Augustus Eichler of Mt. Pleasant was brought to the county jail on Wednesday evening. Eichler it is said got a little too much fire water aboard and started to break up housekeeping at his home by smashing the furniture. He was arraigned before Judge Voss and held on a peace warrant, and being unable to furnish $200 bail was committed to the county jail.

Not a Boarding House.

The statement in the Lomontville items that Mrs. E. J. Willis has opened her house for boarders was an error, as Mrs. Willis is not keeping a boarding house and has no intention of doing so. The Freeman regrets that the statement has caused annoyance by reason of several applications for board being made.

ASA BRAINARD, GIANT'S NEW FIRST BASEMAN, MAKES GOOD.

The picture is of Asa Brainard, Giant's utility infielder, who has been playing first base for the New York National League, since Merkle went on the sick list, in a most satisfactory manner. Asa has all the marks of a coming star.

Ptolemaic Astronomy.

According to the Ptolemaic theory, the east was the center of the universe and was motionless. The surrounding ethereal region was composed of eleven skies or firmaments, which revolved around the earth as a common center. All the celestial bodies moved around the earth. This system lasted from about 200 B. C. to the time of Copernicus.

Moderately Comforting.

He (uncastly)—Do you think your father will give his consent to our marriage? She (reassuringly)—Oh, yes. He seems to have had an inkling of what was in the air, and only a day or two ago I heard him tell mother he knew several young men who had less sense than you have.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Progress.

"How are their social ambitions getting along?"
"Splendidly. They've been snubbed by three families this year who wouldn't even notice them a year ago."—Detroit Free Press.

Equilibrium in the Kitchen.

Have you ever had your patience tried and the sweet serenity of your spirit ruffled by the wabbling and tipping of saucepans on gas stove burners which were too large? Keep a square or circle of fly screening at hand to place over the burner when using very small cooking vessels and you will have successfully solved this problem.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

His Own Appraiser.

"Willie," said his mother on her return from a shopping expedition, "I told you if you were good while I was out you might have a piece of candy, and now I find you've taken all there was in the box."
"Yes, mamma," replied Willie, "but you're no idea how very good I've been."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Effectual Cure.

"She wants to be a sister to me."
"You can easily get her out of that notion."
"How?"
"Treat her as you would a sister."—Kansas City Journal.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE FREEMAN.

New York, June 3.—Pronounced strength was shown in the stock market in the early trading today. Stocks of companies with important interests in Mexico were among the most prominent features. American Smelting which had reflected accumulation for some days, advanced 1 1/2 to 69, and Mexican Petroleum moved up 1 1/2 to 70 3/4. Southern Pacific followed with an uptick of 3/4 to 88 1/4. It was current gossip that Union Pacific and similar stocks were in demand from investment corporations and those issues were more active than for some time. Union Pacific rose 3/4 to 126 1/4. New York Central 1/2 to 87. St. Paul 1 1/2 to 90, and Reading a point to 144 1/4. The copper stocks also were in brisk demand, Anaconda rising 3/4 to 32 1/2, and Amalgamated 5/8 to 67 3/4. American Beet Sugar was one of the strongest of the specialties, improving a point to 48. General Electric continued its upward movement, making a gain of 1 1/4 to 162 1/4.

Noon.—Stocks were bought on an extremely large scale in the late forenoon, vigorous advances being noted throughout the list. U. S. Steel common was in good demand, that stock selling at 56 1/2, a gain of 1 1/2 for the morning. American Smelting continued its upward movement, advancing 1 1/4 to 70 3/4, and Mexican Petroleum made an advance of 1 point to 71 1/4. The copper stocks were in good demand, Amalgamated Copper rising 1/2 to 68 1/4, Anaconda 1/4 to 32 3/4, China 3/4 to 45 1/4 and Utah 3/4 to 67. Baltimore & Ohio advanced a point to 73 1/4 and Erie, Reading, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were all fractionally higher. Money loaning at 1 1/2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—The tone was strong in the first half of the last hour and many issues scored substantial gains. Amalgamated Copper rose to 69 1/4 against 67 3/4 at the opening and 68 1/4 at noon. Westinghouse which had opened at 95 1/2 sold up to 96 3/4. Reading was prominent in the trading, advancing a point from its morning range.

The stock market closed buoyant; governments unchanged other bonds strong.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 3.—The batter who tries to outguess a pitcher never lands in the .300 class. Such a player has his mind concentrated on what the pitcher is going to throw more than he has on the natural object of his visit to the plate—to hit the ball.

Jacques Fournier, of the White Sox, the 1915 batting sensation of the American League, furnishes an excellent example of what happens to a batter who tries to outguess the pitcher—and one who doesn't. Cobb, Jackson, Wagner, Collins, Lajoie, Speaker and the other famous hitters of the present era of baseball, don't try to outguess a pitcher. They swing at every good ball that comes along, not worrying about how it is going to break. But they've always followed that course. Fournier's case is different.

In 1913 Fournier hit for .234. Up to mid-season in 1914 he didn't hit much better than .250.

"And then I took a tumble to myself," said Fournier. "All along I had been working on the theory that a successful batter was one who outguessed the pitcher. Every time I'd step to the plate I'd try to figure out in advance what the pitcher was going to throw and then I'd set myself for such a delivery.

"Sometimes I did outguess the pitcher. Oftener I didn't. But I always was worried over the uncertainty of the guessing game. Had I guessed wrong, or was I right? The continual worry took my mind off the fact that I was in there to bat—not to play a guessing game.

"Well, one day last summer we stacked up against Walter Johnson. I figured it wasn't any use trying to outguess him so I just walked up to the plate and banged away at what he served up to me. I made two home runs that day. Ever since I have not been trying to do any more outguessing. I keep in mind only one thing when I go to the plate—that I must hit the ball. I think that system has been a success."

It surely has. Fournier began to hit like a fiend from that time on and ended the 1914 season with a mark of .311.

This season Fournier started off at a whirlwind pace and he has been maintaining it. He swung into May with a batting mark around .450 and has entered June with very little of it shrunken away. If he maintains his present clip he will have a fine chance to grab away the 1915 batting championship from Ty Cobb and all the other who give him battle.

Armando Marsans gets a daily salary sufficient to buy him 840 cool and foaming beers, he doesn't have to do one tap of work, and yet he is very, very unhappy.

Armando, who is a Cuban gent, jumped from the Cincinnati Nationals to the St. Louis Feds and a court injunction was quickly secured which keeps Marsans from playing. His salary is $5,500 a year or $42.00 a day. And he has nothing to do but practice one hour a day and loaf during the others.

"But I hate loafing," said the fleet Cuban outfielder. "I want to play ball. It makes me sick because I can't play."

Clarence Rowland, who manages the White Sox, wants his men to steal at least one base for every three that he advances.

"Speed—that's what I want," said Rowland.

Rowland's aim for his players is high—but inconsistent. Baseball does not permit a man to average a stolen base for every three that he advances, even though he be a reincarnated Deerfoot.

If a gent steeled and the next batter sent him home with a triple the runner would owe himself a stolen base because he would have advanced three bases without piffing one. If a fellow smashed out a home run he would owe himself a stolen base on balls and then went all the way home on a wild throw to catch him napping he would owe himself another stolen base.

George Burns of the Giants was the best base stealer in either the American or National League last year. Burns scored 100 runs and stole 62 bases. By scoring 100 runs he advanced 300 bases beyond first. Of those advances only 62—or one fifth of the total advances—were made through piffers. Eddie Collins in 1914 scored 122 runs and stole 58 bases. That makes Collins' average about one base stolen for every six advanced.

And Burns and Collins are about as speedy as baseballers go.

ULSTER DEFEATS K. A. ONCE MORE

Ulster again had little trouble winning from K. A. Wednesday by the score of 11 to 3, thereby putting the lid on local strife between the two high schools. The game differed greatly from the first contest, in spite of the fact that scores were about the same in one-sidedness. The K. A. crew played better ball and swatted more healthily than last time. McCauliffe puzzled the Ulster batters not to any great extent because they garnered fifteen lusty bingles from him and he succeeded in fanning only six.

Culliton's total number of strikeouts victims was fifteen but his twist-ers were connected with quite freely and sent to the outfield where usually there was some fielder in a position to spear the pill.

No one could complain against lack of life in yesterday's fracas because there was always some batting going on, the U. A. bunch furnishing most of the amusement.

Ulster base stealing was again demonstrated to the dear public yesterday, a collection of thirteen having been covered in this manner.

Weeding out the star batters of yesterday will take Hallinan, with four singles out of five trips to the plate; Kiernan, whose two doubles aided much in getting U. A. runs; Downer, with two sacrifices and two hits; Shultis, Peyer, Palisi and Relyea. After a few threats, Ulster came out in full blast in the seventh and called enough runs to win the game.

K. A.'s lineup was much different than from that of the former game. Wheeler played second, alongside of Cook at short, who covered a pretty wide area. Silverman tended the central garden and Murphy caught. The game in detail:

First Inning.

It was Ulster's lot to bat first. Terwilliger grounded to Wheeler. Johnson threw Shultis's grounder high to first, Shultis reaching second. Downer sacrificed him to third but Shultis was caught off the bag.

Silverman fanned and Wheeler grounded to Culliton. Johnson rolled one to Hallinan and 1-9 of the game was over.

Second Inning.

Johnson fielded Kiernan's grounder cleanly and Pehleman fanned. Hallinan singled to left and stole second. Joyce fanned but Murphy dropped the last strike. Instead of throwing to first, he threw to third to catch Hallinan. The throw was wild and Hallinan scored. Joyce went to second on the throw home. Joyce tallied when Cook threw Peyer's grounder wild to first, Peyer going to second. Culliton's long fly went to Relyea.

Cook was fanned and then Palisi fell down on three strikes. Relyea fled to Kiernan.

Third Inning.

Terwilliger again rolled one to Wheeler. Shultis doubled to left and when Downer grounded to Johnson, Shultis sprinted all the way home. Kiernan was out on a grounder to Johnson.

McCauliffe fanned and after Relyea binged one to left, Murphy and Silverman struck out also.

Fourth Inning.

Pehleman again took three whiffs in vain. Hallinan's second swat went to right field. Joyce fled to Silverman and Hallinan was caught napping.

The uptown clan came to light in this period. What must be called a wild pitch started things going. Wheeler's third strike hit the plate and bounced into the air over Peyer's head. Johnson fled to Kiernan, who threw low to Terwilliger and Wheeler moved to second. Cook shoved a high fly into the atmosphere and Peyer missed it in its downward flight.

Palisi's double to left tallied Wheeler and Cook dented the pan when Relyea hit to left, Palisi going to third and Relyea reaching second on the throw in. Culliton became a little unnerved and hit McCauliffe, thereby choking the bags. Culliton gained control of himself here and fanned Relyea and Murphy.

Fifth Inning.

Peyer beat out a bunt to Johnson but was nabbed stealing second. Culliton fled to Silverman and Terwilliger went out on a grounder to Wheeler.

Silverman, Wheeler and Johnson added three to Culliton's growing strike-out list.

Sixth Inning.

Cook caught Shultis's fly. Downer singled through short and beat it homeward when Kiernan doubled to left. A wild pitch advanced Kiernan but Pehleman and Hallinan were put out on grounders.

Shultis caught Cook's fly in the shadow of the fence. Palisi was out. Culliton to Terwilliger. Relyea got two bases when Joyce missed his swat. McCauliffe brought him home with a clout to left, going to second on the throw in. He was caught trying to steal third.

Seventh Inning.

Joyce burned one to center and burned himself slightly stealing second. Peyer fanned but Culliton reached first on Cook's error; Joyce being secure at third. Culliton stole second and a passed ball scored Joyce and moved Culliton to third. He tallied on another passed ball. Terwilliger was given a pass and stole second. He tried third also, but failed. Shultis beat out an infield hit and the runt piffed second and the next bag. Downer's bingle to right scored him. Downer stole second and crossed the rubber on Kiernan's single to left. Kiernan outran Murphy's throw to second but Pehleman grounded to Cook.

K. A. darkened the clouds for Ulster in this frame but that was all.
